Introduction

Please carefully review this Cookie Policy (the "Policy") before utilizing the TagorTrade Website.

Any reference to "TagorTrade", the "Company", "we", "us", or "our" pertains to Tagor Trade Ltd, a company duly incorporated in the United Kingdom, with Registration Number: 09133368.

Cookies are small text files placed on your computer either by the websites you visit or by emails you open. These cookies are instrumental in enhancing your user experience, enabling website functionality, bolstering website security, and furnishing the business with marketing insights about the website's visitors.

Cookie files contain a combination of letters and numbers and are stored in designated areas in your computer's memory or on your mobile device. Cookies stored in memory are termed session cookies, while those placed on the hard drive are referred to as persistent cookies.

1. What Are Cookies

1.1. As a customary practice adopted by nearly all professional websites, the TagorTrade Website utilizes cookies, which are minuscule files downloaded to your computer, with the aim of enhancing your browsing experience. This section elucidates the information these cookies gather, their utilization, and the reasons necessitating their storage. Additionally, we provide instructions on how to prevent the storage of these cookies; however, please be advised that doing so may impair or compromise certain functionalities of the site.

1.2. For comprehensive information regarding cookies, kindly refer to the Wikipedia article on HTTP Cookies.

2. How We Use Cookies

2.1. We employ cookies for various purposes delineated below. Regrettably, in most instances, there are no standard industry options for disabling cookies without entirely compromising the functionality and features they impart to the TagorTrade Website. We recommend leaving all cookies enabled unless you are certain of their necessity, as they may be utilized to provide services you avail of.

3. Disabling Cookies

3.1. You have the option to prevent cookies from being set by adjusting your browser settings (consult your browser's Help section for guidance). Nonetheless, please note that disabling cookies will impact the functionality of this Website, as well as many others you visit. Disabling cookies typically results in the deactivation of certain functionalities and features on our website. Therefore, we advise against disabling cookies.

4. The Cookies We Set

4.1. Account-related cookies: These cookies are employed for managing the signup process and general administration when you create an account with us. While these cookies are usually deleted upon logging out, they may persist in some instances to retain your site preferences.

4.2. Login-related cookies: We utilize cookies when you are logged in to remember your login status, obviating the need to log in with each page visit. These cookies are typically cleared upon logging out to ensure restricted features and areas are accessible solely when logged in.

4.3. Email newsletters-related cookies: Our site offers newsletter or email subscription services, and cookies may be deployed to ascertain whether you are already registered and to determine which notifications to display, specific to subscribed/unsubscribed users.

4.4. Forms-related cookies: When you submit data via a form, such as those found on contact pages or comment forms, cookies may be established to retain your user details for future correspondence.

4.5. Website preferences cookies: To deliver an optimal user experience on this Website, we provide functionality enabling you to set your preferences. To retain these preferences, cookies are necessitated so that the information can be accessed whenever you interact with pages affected by your preferences.

5. Third-Party Cookies

5.1. On certain occasions, we may utilize cookies furnished by trusted third parties. This section elaborates on the third-party cookies you may encounter while navigating through this site.

5.2. Google Analytics: We utilize Google Analytics, a widely recognized analytics solution, to comprehend your site usage and improve your browsing experience. These cookies may track metrics such as the duration of your site visit and the pages visited, thereby facilitating the creation of engaging content. For further details on Google Analytics cookies, please refer to the official Google Analytics page.

5.3. Third-party analytics: These cookies monitor and measure website usage to continuously produce engaging content. They track metrics such as the duration of your site visit or the pages visited, enabling us to enhance the site experience.

5.4. Testing new features: Periodically, we test new features and make subtle alterations to the website's delivery. During this phase, cookies may be employed to ensure consistent user experience and to discern the most appreciated optimizations.

5.5. Business predictions: As we offer products for sale, it is imperative for us to ascertain statistics regarding the number of visitors who eventually make a purchase. Consequently, these cookies track data vital for accurate business predictions, allowing us to monitor advertising and product costs to ensure competitive pricing.

5.6. Behavioral advertising: We deploy behavioral advertising cookies to defray operational costs and facilitate further development by providing you with relevant adverts based on your interests, anonymously tracked.

5.7. Affiliate tracking: Affiliate tracking cookies enable us to ascertain if visitors arrive at our site via our affiliate partners, ensuring appropriate crediting and, where applicable, enabling our affiliate partners to provide relevant bonuses for purchases made.

5.8. Social media integration: Social media buttons or plugins integrated into this site enable connection with your social network in various capacities. These social media sites may set cookies through our site to enhance your profile or contribute to the data they hold, as specified in their respective privacy policies.
